FINAL SCORE: Can't miss the bottled beer packed in Ice. A spotlight shines on it.

Nicely done! First brew came with a chilled glass as well - a winner right from the start. "No Socks" Williams and I were very hungry - so we began quickly with appetizer. Patti, the bartender touted me to the fried zucchini which, was very good. Good choice, Patti! Burgers are a specialty here so both "No Socks" and I went that route. I couldn't resist the 'Garbage Can Burger" - an eight-ounce burger topped with pork roll and cheese. It was cooked to my request perfectly. Second brews equally as good as the first, with a new, chilled glass. Kudos, for sure. "No Socks" waved off dessert. Not I, of course. By night's end, the place was packed - mostly with softball teams. This is definitely the new hot spot in town.
